1. Potsdam received 46th and 82nd Armored Brigades from Kaliningrad on 28 October [redacted] These units were dispatched to Küstrin on 1 November.
2. Küstrin (V66) [redacted] received the aforementioned 46th and 82nd Armored Brigades on 6 November. Also on 6 November, 121st and 144th Motorized Rifle Regiments arrived from Potsdam, and 76th and 94th Motorized Rifle Regiments from the USSR. On approximately the same date, Küstrin received 200 fighter and 40 bomber aircraft. A large ration dump is being established in the Küstrin area; it appears large enough to serve an army. [redacted] In round terms, [redacted] an espionage school in the vicinity sends three agents per week to the western zones and that Innsbruck is their chief meeting place.
3. Neustrelitz (U54), in late October, contained the 80th Rifle Regiment. Additional troops were expected on 15 and 20 November.
4. Mirow (U33) has a new airfield, which held 300 aircraft of various types in late October.
5. Schwerin (T46) housed the following in late October [redacted]
- |                             |                                |

| 12th AA Division            | 24th Armored Brigade           |
| 34th AA Division            | 180th Motorized Rifle Regiment |
| unidentified air force unit |                                |
6. [redacted] on 2 November Schwerin received the 8th AA Division and 112th Motorized Rifle Regiment from Perleberg. The latter town expected replacements for these two units (which arrived in Perleberg on 1 October) to arrive on or about 15 November.
7. Neuruppin (Z49) [redacted] housed 157th Armored Brigade in early November. A part of 53rd Motorized-Mechanized Corps, whose staff is located north of the town, the brigade is equipped with T-34 tanks and has approximately 7,000 men commanded by Colonel Sorbosh. It receives fuel and ammunition from Wulkow (Z49), where the corps ordnance repair shop is located in a sugar refinery.

- 25X1 [ ] Comment: [ ]
- 25X1 [ ] a motorized-mechanized corps arrived in Neuruppin on 20
- 25X1 October.
- 25X1 8. Also in Neuruppin in early November: 31st Engineers Regiment,
- 25X1 with approximately 2,000 men under Lt. Col. Gregor Krasnovich; and
- sections of 213th Rifle Regiment, equipped with mortars, commanded
- by Colonel Laroshin.
9. Planken (Y52), in the Letzlinger Heide maneuver area, contained
- approximately 7,000 men with 100 T-34 tanks on 10 November. This
- area contains the command post of "a higher staff section" which
- gets its supplies from Magdeburg and Stendal. At the same time
- Hillersleben (Y51) held 2,000 men with field artillery; and the
- village of Saichan (unlocated; Sachau, Y33?) had 8,500 troops
- equipped with 88 mm guns. These troops /apparently those in
- Saichan_7 were commanded by Colonel Pavelishenkov.
